Understanding Subject-Verb Agreement

Subject-verb agreement refers to the grammatical rule that the subject of a sentence must agree in number with its verb. This means that a singular subject requires a singular verb, while a plural subject requires a plural verb. Understanding this concept is vital for effective communication in English, as it ensures clarity and coherence in writing and speaking.

The Basic Rules of Subject-Verb Agreement

Here are some fundamental rules to keep in mind:

1. Singular subjects take singular verbs:

- Correct: The dog barks.
- Incorrect: The dog bark.

2. Plural subjects take plural verbs:

- Correct: The dogs bark.
- Incorrect: The dogs barks.

3. When the subject is a collective noun, the verb can be singular or plural depending on the context:

- Correct (singular): The team wins.
- Correct (plural): The team are celebrating their victory.

4. Indefinite pronouns generally take singular verbs:

- Correct: Everyone is here.
- Incorrect: Everyone are here.

5. Compound subjects joined by 'and' take a plural verb:

- Correct: The cat and the dog are playing.
- Incorrect: The cat and the dog is playing.

6. When subjects are joined by 'or' or 'nor,' the verb agrees with the subject closest to it:

- Correct: Either the teacher or the students are coming.
