Early Career and Artistic Pursuits

Walt Disney started his career as a commercial artist and animator in the early 1920s. He co-founded Laugh-O-Gram Studio in Kansas City, which produced short cartoons. Although the studio eventually went bankrupt, this experience taught Disney valuable lessons about business management and the importance of innovation in a competitive market.

Founding of Disney Brothers Studio

After moving to Hollywood, Walt Disney and his brother Roy established the Disney Brothers Studio in 1923. This marked the beginning of a business that would grow exponentially. The Creation of Feature-Length Animated Films

Another significant entrepreneurial achievement was Disney's production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in 1937, the first full-length animated feature film.
